

A presentation by Professor Tom Metzloff

Raleigh, N.C.

Monday, September 12, 2005

Hosted by Smith, Anderson, Blount, Dorsett, Mitchell & Jernigan, LLP

Attendees

- Dean Kate Bartlett*
- Geoffrey Adams '98
- Heather Adams '98
- Amy Batten '92
- Caroline Belk '04
- James Blackburn '80
- E. Lawrence Davis '63
- James Dever '87
- Robert Gardner '50
- Seagrurn Gilbert '04
- Lisa Glover '99
- Marjorie Gurganus '05
- Ruth Cohen Hammer '82
- Dale Hollar '79
- Amy Keegan '02
- Geoffrey Krouse '97
- Ronald Marquette '74
- Jackson Moore '95
- Alan Parry '98
- Ash Pipkin '75
- Matthew Sawchak '89
- Vandana Shah '96
- Paul Sun '89
- Juli Tenney '79
- Sean Timmons '94
- M. Elizabeth Wade '04
- Frank Ward '71
- Kirk Warner
- Mike Weddington '73
- Clay Wheeler '97
- Christine Witcover '71
- Julie Youngman '94
- Melanie Burkett*
- Courtney duBois*
- David Mainella*

*Duke Law School representative

In a presentation for CLE credit, Professor Tom Metzloff provided a brief update on the ambitious building renovation and expansion project at Duke Law School and then presented his fascinating video documentary Virginia v. Black. Using interviews of this 2003 case in which the Supreme Court struck down a statute banning cross burning and overturned the conviction of a Pennsylvania Klansman, the video explores the factual and legal underpinnings of the case, its path to the U.S. Supreme Court, and its effects on the people involved.

Host Mike Weddington welcomes the group.

Dean Kate Bartlett introduces Professor Metzloff.

Networking prior to the presentation

Discussing Virginia v. Black

