Judicial Internships: Judges to Consider

Each year, a number of Duke Students choose to spend their summers as judicial clerks in chambers located across the country. These are excellent jobs and can be especially useful to students intending to pursue a career in litigation or to make legal contacts in a community in which they wish to practice. They are also valuable to those wishing to clerk following graduation.

The following are lists of Federal and State judges who have hired Duke Law students for judicial internships over the last five years:
