

OCEAN ECOSYSTEM MANAGEMENT

CHALLENGES AND OPPORTUNITIES FOR REGIONAL OCEAN GOVERNANCE

FRIDAY, OCT. 21

8:30 A.M. – 5:30 P.M.

Duke University School of Law, Room 3041
West Campus, corner of Towerview Road and Science Drive, Durham, NC

THE 2005 SYMPOSIUM of the Duke Environmental Law and Policy Forum will bring together leading experts in ocean law and policy to discuss challenges and opportunities for development of a regional ocean governance system in the United States. The final roundtable will focus on identifying practical strategies for the development of marine-ecosystem based management in the U.S., which will be presented to Congress in 2006.

This event will appeal to practitioners of environmental law, professionals in ocean and coastal governance, and faculty and students of law, public policy, environmental management, and marine studies.

Attendance is FREE and open to the public.
Registration is required as space is limited.
This event has been approved for Continuing Law Education (CLE) Credits.
