
Workshop on
CORRUPTION AND INTERNATIONAL LAW

November 10-11, 2000 · Duke University · School of Law

Although the issue of corruption is attracting ever greater attention from practitioners and scholars of international law, relatively little sustained discussion of the issue has taken place between practitioners and scholars. Even less discussion has occurred among scholars from different academic disciplines such as law, economics and political science. For this reason, we are organizing a workshop that will grapple with and respond to this practical challenge in a fully interdisciplinary way.

FRIDAY , NOVEMBER 10, 2000

Burdman Lounge, School of Law

7:00 - 10:00 PM Reception and Dinner

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 2000

Burdman Lounge, School of Law

9:00 AM Introductory Presentation and Discussion

Noon Lunch

1:00 - 4:00 PM Recap and Discussion

7:00 - 10:00 PM Reception and Dinner (Local Restaurant)

